Georgetown Well Represented.

The list of officials for the interscholastic track and field games, to be held in Convention Hall on the evening of January 13, has been completed, and includes many of the best known and most competent athletic officers in this section.

Headed by Mel B. Rideout, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., there are among the names men who have become prominent in many branches of sport and whose familiarity with the games makes it certain that the school boy events will be satisfactorily conducted.

LIGHTBODY LEAVES
CHICAGO FOR YALE

Crack Western Middle Distance Runner

Said to Have Deserted Maroon for Blue.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—According to a report, James D. Lightbody, the star runner of the University of Chicago, has deserted that institution and entered Yale.

A letter was received by one of the leading athletic co-eds at the University of Chicago from Lightbody, which brought the hint to the athletic manager that the now-famous runner might not return. The letter was written Monday, and stated that Lightbody would visit Yale this week and if he was taken with the place he might decide to remain there.

For the first time he has entered the university a year, and has enthusiastically become eligible for athletic competition. This was given as a reason by some why Lightbody would return. Others who know the crack runner well cited this fact as a reason why he should leave. They claim this is also the first time that Lightbody has been able to get a clear record of dismissal from the university, as the officials refuse to grant a letter of dismissal to a student under any disability.

Five more Maroon athletes were conditioned this morning by the University of Chicago deans, and the enthusiasts who were talking so cheerfully of the school's prospects a few days ago are cast down. It is believed that there is now left little hope of winners on either track or baseball diamond. Parkinson, the half-mile, mile, and DeTray, football star and quarter-mile, wonderer, a high jumper, and "Bubbles" Hill, shot-putter, were the ones to be placed on the athletic shelf.

In all, ten of the best men of the Midway school are now out of the competition because of conditions. Besides those announced this morning there are five others who were sidetracked the other day—Bert Gale, Templeton, Bezdek, Paul and Abbott. The baseball squad loses almost as many men as the track team does.

WALLACE WILL NOT QUIT AUTO RACING

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—William Wallace, whose retirement from auto racing has been announced from Boston, will enter the 100-mile race to be held over the Prado at Havana. Mr. Wallace's mining interests in Central America prevent his entering the Ormond races, but he has determined to get away from his work at the mines long enough to drive his big Fiat car in the Cuban event.

A score of drivers who are to race at Ormond will go direct to Cuba, and the 100-mile race in Havana will assume almost the importance of the Vanderbilt race, from the number of nationalities to be represented. The entry of Mr. Wallace will greatly add to the interest in the contest. Arrived against him will be many of the most prominent competitors from the Vanderbilt race, including Sartori, Webb, and many more.

BILL IN MISSOURI
AGAINST BOOKMAKINGLegislature May Repeal Law Which Licenses Gambling at Racetracks
Part of Each Year.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 7.—Representative Edward H. Bickley, of St. Louis, started the ball rolling in the Legislature yesterday to repeal the breeders' law, which licenses gambling for 180 days each year at the racetracks.

The bookmakers now pay into the State treasury $5 a day each, while they turn over to the racing association $100 a day. In return for this compensation they are made practically exempt from the gambling statutes, which denounces bookmaking as a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $1,000 or one year in jail, or both.

DOWN AND OUT TOURNEY.

Hats off to Joe Hardie.

Six pins were worth $20.

DOWN THE ALLEYS.

The third game was the prettiest of the series. The men were close all the way and in the last box tied, which necessitated a roll off.

Both of the high men are members of the Acme team, but in the Real Estate League, Hudson rolls for Columbia Title Insurance, while Hardie is a member of the Bureau quint of the Departmental.

On next Wednesday evening Hardie and Hudson will meet Campbell and Krause in a two-man championship. The two winners are connected with the Palace alleys, so they kept out of the Down and Out, with the understanding that they would get on a special match with the two high men.

The District League game between the Fat Men and the Scenographers and the Railway games which were scheduled for last night, were postponed.

The Commissioners came to the front in the Departmental League and won two of the three from the Navy Yard bowlers.

Parker, of the District Building aggregation, was certainly hitting them some. In the first he got 239, and in the last game reached 223. The other 239 men were Smith and Myers, of the Commissioners, and O'Donnell and Crist, of the Navy Yard.

O'Donnell and Carroll, of the Treasury team, spent the holidays in Philadelphia, where they astonished the natives by the way they hit the pins.

Tonight, Departmental—Commerce and Labor vs. Treasury Plate Printers—New York vs. Washington.

The enthusiasts in the Royal Arcanum League will again be out in force next week when the second series of games will be that league commences on Tuesday night. Kismet meeting the team representing District Council, Wednesday night, Oriental and Capital contest, Thursday night, and National on Friday. All games are rolled on the Palace alleys at 8:30.

KEPT MORE "ARID" STILL

RENO, Nev., Jan. 7.—Members of the general assembly of this State have received word from the Interior Department at Washington that Nevada will be expected to take steps at the next session of the Legislature to stop the sale of liquor, which has interfered with work along the line of the irrigation canals that are being constructed in connection with the reclamation work.

CARROLL INSTITUTE

Team From Baltimore—Practicing
With Regular All Season.

This evening in the Carroll Institute Gymnasium the second team of the Institute will meet the second team of the West Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, of Baltimore, in a basketball game.

It will be the first appearance of the season for the second Carrolls, but the men have been practicing regularly with the first team under the direction of Dr. Reilly, and are in good condition for their opening contest.

The Young Men's Christian Association has one of the strongest teams in Baltimore, and has the advantage over the local players of having had a good schedule of regular games.

The game this evening will be called the "Rock and Roll" and the Carroll players will be Crogan, J. Caulflower, Wilkerson, Howell, and C. Caulflower.

SINGING OF "THE NATIVITY."

"The Nativity," a Christmas cantata, was sung at Christ Church Thursday evening, by the regular choir, composed of fifteen young women and thirty-five young men under the direction of Choirmaster William T. Glover. William Hulme Taylor, the boy organist, presided at the organ, and his work was excellent. He has risen from choir boy to his present position.

Among those who took prominent parts in the cantata are, Harry Stevens, H. P. Hooper and Miss Emily S. R. Glover. Near the close of the service, the Rev. Dr. Thomas delivered a sermon on the "Nativity." The collection was made for the benefit of the choir fund.

Grant Threw Max Wiley
Without Much TroubleWeight Too Much for Visitor—Spaulding a
Comer—Carter and Lowe Boxing Bout.
Gardner Afraid of Gans.

Joe Grant had an easier time than he expected last night in getting Tommy Wiley, the champion welterweight wrestler of New York State. Wiley had a record of having thrown numerous good men and of a two-hour draw with Grant and a three-hour draw with Harvey Parker. He is a smaller man than Grant, but when he wrestled his draw with the Washingtonian he was nearer Grant's size. Since then Joe has taken on flesh more rapidly than Wiley and last night had twelve or fifteen pounds advantage.

Despite his lack of avoirdupois Wiley was a little busy bee in the first round and managed to do some rough work that stirred up the audience and showed just how good he is at that game when he meets a man nearer his own size. But the weight soon told and the visitor broke the incessant Nelson and leg holds which his opponent gained. He pulled out of several tight places when he seemed to be nearly gone, but after sixteen minutes Grant obtained a Nelson hold that the New York man could not break and in five seconds more he was pinned to the mat.

The second fall was obtained more easily, as Wiley could do nothing but act on the defensive and stave off the inevitable as long as possible. He lasted eight minutes and 12 seconds, and then went down from a Nelson and leg hold.

Jack Spaulding again demonstrated that he is a coming championship possibility among the 155-pound boys by putting down Ray Brennan, who had been a contender for a long time. Spaulding was in a bad way several times in the first round, but by clever rocking he broke away and saved himself from defeat by a fraction of an inch. With the second fall he did not have so much trouble.

Foley and Cohn furnished a lively exhibition in their quick work and crude methods aroused much laughter. Cohn got two falls and the match.

Grant has been matched with Fred Beil for January 18, at the Washington Light Infantry Armory. Beil is the man who recently threw American three times, getting the last fall in three minutes. His match with Grant will be a handicap, in which he will agree to throw Grant twice in an hour. Any man who can throw American will be considered pretty near the real thing in Washington, and the bout should draw a large crowd.

Phil Davis, of Baltimore, has been matched with Harvey Tyrrell for January 11 in Washington, but Tyrrell said this morning that it had not been decided where to hold the bout. It will probably be held in private for a good side bet, and will be worth seeing. Davis writes that he is preparing carefully, and that if he wins Tyrrell he will come to Washington for awhile and go after the other 125-pound men in this section.

Davis will be accompanied by Kid Freedman, who claims the 105-pound championship of Maryland, and would like a match with any boy of that weight in Washington.

The fight game is rather quiet at present, and few matches have been made for the immediate future.

About the only match being discussed to any extent is that between Tommy Lowe and Rubie Carter. This was originally set for January 9 and was to have been held in private, but Johnny O'Connor, who is handling Lowe, claimed that his boy hurt his hand in the sixth round of the New Year bout with Harry Lewis, and that it would be necessary to postpone the match. It was then set for January 12, and it may yet be held on that date at the Rock Spring Club.

These boys have been dickering for nearly a year, and when they do come together there should be lively doings. Carter looks fit to fight at any minute, and that is only natural for he has practically been in training for two months.

Jimmy Gardner's action in sidestepping Joe Gans in the bout arranged for February in San Francisco will not surprise those who have followed Gardner's record. There is no doubt but what he is a clever fighter, but he has always appeared to be afraid of Gans, and his latest flop is but one of three which he has executed when matched with Gans in the past three years. One time he admitted that he was afraid of the negro champion, and it is doubtful if he will ever be forced into the ring with Gans.

There is a movement on foot in Baltimore to encourage amateur boxing and it has received considerable support. This movement is a good one, and the Baltimore enthusiasts should make their events open to boys from Washington. There are a number of clever amateurs in this city who have shown marked ability with the mitts, but they have had few opportunities for displaying their skill. It has been many a day since boxing of any kind has been allowed in this city, to the great joy of the cranks, and the development of the art of self-defense with nature's weapons has been almost stopped. Interest has been revived recently and people are beginning to understand that if there were more persons educated in boxing there would be fewer people walking around with young arsenals on them and subject to arrest for carrying concealed weapons.

According to Alex Greggains, the Hart-Johnson fight, which was scheduled for this month, will be postponed until next month. The best fight since the fight between Gans and Gardner.

Parke Wilson, the famous old-time catcher of nearly a decade ago, is slated for captain of the San Francisco club for next season. Another case of You can't keep a good man down.

Manager McGraw has ordered the Giants to report in this city the first week in March to begin the trip through the South. The men will go direct to Savannah, and after two weeks' practice will begin a series of the games in the different Southern League towns.

Another victim of icy pavements, Raymond, the young Detroit pitcher, fell in Chicago the other day and broke his shoulder. He is confined to his home, and it will be some time before his wing will be strong enough to use.

The "Philadelphia Record" says: "A marriage license was issued in this city yesterday to John J. Carr and Mary C. Connors, both of Washington. At the high school meet in Convention Hall the prep department will have a relay four entered, but in the Georgetown games in February the college team will run against local and Baltimore teams. It is hardly likely that the team had its first gridiron team in these parts at first, but the Scaries and Gray has the spirit which is bound to win out in the long run."

FRAWLEY'S BILL FOR BOXING IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Senator Frawley is enthusiastic over the prospect of putting through a boxing bill this session. He will introduce his bill early, providing for the appointment of a State commission to supervise boxing contests.

He believes the commission should be empowered to select, as judges, experts from the various athletic clubs of the city. In this way Senator Frawley thinks he can put an end to "fake fights," thus permitting the playing of baseball in the city, which has been prohibited by the Legislature before the session has advanced very far.

HARVARD HOPES FOR STRONG TRACK TEAM

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 7.—Trainer John Graham, of Harvard's track team, is making great efforts to turn out a successful team this year. He has persuaded Captain Hurley, of the football eleven, to try for the sprints, and has induced a large number of other gridiron giants to compete in the weight events.

Brill, Spikes, Parker, Sperry, Henly and Ovison are a few of the men whom Graham expects to have working regularly within a few days.

Just who will coach them is unknown. Individual coaches for all the events are being engaged this season. A meeting of track candidates held in the Union tonight was the largest meeting of its kind in Harvard's history.

SOUTHERN TRIP OF BOSTON NATIONALS

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 7.—President Soden, of the Boston Nationals, has commenced to corral his players for the Southern trip, and announced yesterday the Southern games' schedule as follows: Report Washington, D. C. first week in March; train at Savannah, Ga., till middle March; then to Birmingham, Ala., until March 28, working their way north with games at Nashville, March 29; St. Louis, April 1; Cincinnati, April 3; Columbus (conditional), April 5; Wheeling, April 6.

Ed Corrigan is certainly making good his threat to make trouble for the Western Jockey Club. Racing affairs in the West at present are in a very chaotic condition, and it will be spring before matters are straightened out.

Belts, certain of Dickman's track team last season, has entered Johns Hopkins and will greatly strengthen the Baltimore squad.

Harry Hillman, the New York Athletic Club's crack quarter-miler, has decided to retire from track athletics. Be-

FIRST AMERICAN
JOCKEY TO HANGJohn Hathaway Went to Gallows Last Week

TROUBLE OVER A WOMAN

Quit Him and When She Returned He Killed Her in Cold Blood in Kentucky.

John Hathaway, hanged at Winchester, Ky., last week, was the first American jockey of note to go to the gallows. In 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891 and 1892 John Hathaway ranked high as a skillful jockey and in one of these racing seasons alone he piloted no less than seventy-two horses to victory. Those were the racing days of glory for the colored jockeys when Pike Barnes, Tom Britton, "Soup" Perkins, John Stovall, Isaac Murphy, John Porter, Alonzo Allen, Eddie West, A. Clayton, E. Jones, J. Fishburn, G. Fox, J. Stepp, Isaac Lewis, M. Hamilton and J. Hollis, with Hathaway, the Hilderbrands, Lynes and Shaws of the turf.

Favorite Rider.

In those times Hathaway was a favorite rider with such famous turfmen as Major B. G. Thomas, W. R. Leitch, and the late Byron McClelland, and though never outright in the employ of the latter often rode in the colors of that lucky horseman. The then skillful jockey rode many noted horses and won on them a number of the classic events of the turf.

At the beginning of 1903, when he was still in his teens, Hathaway rapidly began to take on weight and his retirement from the saddle soon followed. In his successful career as a jockey he rolled in wealth, but like many of his class he was improvident and spent the money he so easily earned like it was water. It was in the height of his riding career that he met the girl for whose murder he was hanged. She was his sweetheart and he lavished on her the wealth which came to him as a result of his success as a jockey.

Run Away.

When he quit the saddle he and the beautiful octoroon continued lovers, but finally, when Hathaway's wealth had all gone, the woman turned up missing at their home in Jackson, where they had settled. Several days he waited her return, brooding over the fact that he was broke, and reasoning that that was likely the cause of her going, he started out to look for her. He finally located her at Winchester, but she refused to go back to her home in the mountain town, and becoming enraged at her refusal he killed her in cold blood. Hathaway was tried by the Clark County circuit court and readily condemned to death, this verdict being sustained by the court of appeals.

SIXTY-FIVE OARSMEN
OUT AT PENNSYLVANIA

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—Penn's 1905 crew candidates yesterday reported for winter work to Capt. J. D. Taylor. For the first day the squad was unusually small—only sixty-five men putting their names on the list. Of these only sixteen are college freshmen.

Captain Taylor is much disappointed at the small "turn-out." He anticipates that at least 150 men will be out in two weeks, when work on the rowing machines is booked to start. The preliminary running work is not to the liking of many of the men.

Cochman Little Ward will not assume charge of the men until machine practice begins, and Captain Taylor will continue the daily exercise on the rowing track. This work is given the men to reduce surplus weight, develop wind and muscle, and to get them in the strenuous work of the machines.

At a meeting of the rowing committee yesterday Thomas Reath was re-elected chairman, and R. W. Rhoad was chosen as manager for the coming season.

M'DOWELL TO HEAD
WESTERN TURF CLUB

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—T. C. McDowell, the Kentucky breeder, is said to be the choice of Corrigan and his colleagues to head the new turf organization.

That Tom McDowell, who, by the way, is a grandson of Henry Clay, would make the ideal president for the new turf body there is no doubt. Known and respected from coast to coast, Mr. McDowell enjoys the confidence of every horseman in the country. As a trainer and judge of thoroughbreds he has few, if any, superiors in America, and among the great racers he has campaigned with success are Alonzo Allen, Monarchs, Rush and many others of fame.

Corrigan confirmed the report that Tom McDowell would ride for him, but intimated that no contract had yet been signed. Sloan has not succeeded in securing a license from the Western Jockey Club, but with the formation of a new turf organization at hand it won't matter much if he never gets one.
